UK Outlook for Saturday 27 Mar 2021 to Saturday 10 Apr 2021:
Following an unsettled spell a gradual change back to more settled conditions looks likely during early April. Whilst some areas will still see showers at times, there is likely to be a good deal of dry weather. The focus of any shorter-lived unsettled intervals is more likely to be across the northwest of the country. Around the turn of the month temperatures are most likely to be around if not a little below average. Temperatures probably remaining around average during early April but with an increased chance of some warmer spells.
